

What is Food Security?

Food security is the condition of having enough. One common definition is that of the FAO (the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization). The FAO defines food security as “when all people, at all times, have physical, social, and economic access to sufficient, safe, and nutritious food that meets their dietary needs and food preferences for an healthy and active life” (FAO, 2001, The State of Food Insecurity in the World 2001 (<https://openknowledge.fao.org/items/13f78ee7-4025-4f9b-9829-e6287ab26ce2>)). This state is contrasted with food insecurity, defined by the FAO as “when people live with hunger and fear starvation.”

Food security is defined by the FAO as “when all people, at all times, have physical, social, and economic access to sufficient, safe, and nutritious food that meets their dietary needs and food preferences for an healthy and active life.” It is the opposite of food insecurity.
